

Wright Current Income Fund

Investment Objective

A high level of current income consistent with moderate fluctuations of principal from a portfolio of quality mortgage related securities.

Investment Strategies

Since inception the fund has invested in mortgage pass-through securities of the Government National Mortgage Association (GNMA). The fund may invest in other debt obligations issued or guaranteed by the U.S. government or any of its agencies. The fund does not invest in the residual classes of collateralized mortgage obligations (CMOs), stripped mortgage-related securities, leveraged floating rate instruments or indexed securities. The fund reinvests all principal payments

Suitable For

The fund is suitable for investors seeking a high level of income over a long period of time.

Risks

Generally, bond prices rise when interest rates fall and vice versa. There is little credit risk as the fund concentrates its investments in securities whose timely payment of interest and principal is guaranteed. Mortgage loans underlying mortgage related securities are generally subject to a greater rate of principal prepayments in a declining interest rate environment and to a lesser rate of principal prepayment in an increasing interest rate environment. Thus the return of reinvested principal is affected by interest rate changes.

WCIFX has no sales charge and its annual expense ratio is limited to 1.00% by contractual agreement with the Adviser that, if not renewed, will expire on April 30, 2017. In addition the Investment Adviser and Principal Underwriter have further limited the total annual operating expenses to 0.90%. This further limitation is voluntary and may be terminated at any time. If this expense limitation agreement was not in place and further voluntary reduction was not done, the expense ratio would be 1.14%.

Total Return is the % return of an initial investment made at the beginning of the period to the ending redeemable value assuming all dividends and distributions are reinvested. Remember, past performance is not predictive of future results. Investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost.
